

Tuesday 4 June | 6pm

Two sisters May and June couldn't be more different. May is quiet, self-conscious withdrawn; June is boisterous, beautiful, magnetic...and missing.

It's been a year since June disappeared, a year of May waiting for her to turn up with an explanation of where she's been and why she left. But with the discovery of an old newspaper article comes a secret: Their mother once vanished, too, on the same date when she was nineteen years old...

Paula will be in-conversation with Tim Constantine.

Attendee price: $10 bookings essential incl. light refreshment. Tickets can also be purchased at the Library.
